"Please, please, please, Mum, let me have a pet!
A horse or a bee or a duck or a seal,
a wolf or a weasel, a flea or an eel -
any pet will do!"

At least, that's what I said.
But what I really wanted was...an elephant.
An elephant with creased grey skin

Hamsters are cute little animals,
With ginger fur and long whiskers.

They like to eat currants, nuts or bits of cheese,
and don't forget water for them to slurp!

Don't squeeze your hamster, it might bite your finger!

Remember, never leave a hamster alone out of its cage, otherwise it could get hurt!

You will need a proper hamster cage-the bigger the better.

Put a layer of peat on the floor and scatter wood shavings or the shredded paper on top.

When it is sleepy, your hamster will curl up in the corner and cover itself up.

Never keep hamsters together in the cage, they will fight!
